

Council May Sign Sewall Pact Tonight

The Town Council is expected to sign a contract this evening with the James W. Sewall Company of Old Town for providing a complete set of tax maps. The contract price will be for $15,500, the amount authorized at a special town meeting earlier in the month.

Want OK From Attorney
The contract was presented to the Council during its regular meeting Monday night, but Chairman Fred Greaves said Council would want to study the contract further, and have it approved by the Town Attorney, before signing. Albert P. Putnam is Town Attorney.

A representative from the Sewall firm and Councilmen will meet at 7 o'clock tonight, at a special meeting of the Council. It was explained Monday night that payments to the Old Town firm will be divided into two parts. The firm will bill $10,000 of the contract price monthly, beginning in 1966, as work progresses. The balance, $5,500, will be payable in full by May 15, 1967, upon completion of the work.

Not All Needed In '66
Council said that because of this arrangement, it may be necessary to borrow only the $10,000 this coming year, and postpone borrowing the balance of $5,500 until 1967.

Chief Assistant Assessor Richard Hamilton told the Council that Sewall company will begin the necessary flying in a matter of days, and that preliminary maps of the urban area will be ready next spring for use in compiling the 1966 tax bills.

Flying for aerial photos will be primarily over the Interstate 95 route. The Old Town firm already has aerial photos of other portions of the Town.

Patten Tagging Station Is Off To Record Start

Deer hunters in the Patten area are off to their biggest season since 1960, according to the first report of the tagging station at Giggey's Esso.

Earl Giggey told the Pioneer Times this week that the station had tagged 78 deer during the first week of the season. This is the biggest first-week kill since the season of 1960.

A year ago the Patten station tagged 75 deer during the first week, and the figure has gone as low in recent years as the 19 tagged for the opening week of 1961.

600 Hear Folk Music Performance

Six hundred people were in attendance at the year's first Community Concert presentation held at Putnam Gymnasium Monday evening.

Featured were the New Lost City Ramblers, John Cohen, Tracy Schwarz and Mike Seeger, a trio of young men who specialize in authentic American folk music. Highlighting the program were Carter Family and Blue Grass songs. The Carter Family, from Virginia, represents old-time music at its best; "Blue Grass," dating from 1946, represents a twentieth century treatment of traditional folk music.

Noted for their use of a wide range of folk instruments, the New Lost City Ramblers gave an outstanding display of virtuosity as they performed on the fiddle, five-string banjo, mouth harp, mandoline, autoharp, two spoons, and a variety of guitars. The performance was marred only by the well known acoustical and lighting deficiencies of Putnam Gymnasium.

The next Community Concert event will be the Paris Chamber Orchestra scheduled for March 25. The concluding presentation of this year's series will be the pianist O'Shanski, who will appear May 2.

RCI Wants Quality; Cuts Harvest Recess

Potato harvest recess, enrollment increases, and academic expansion are highlighted in announcements made today by Ricker Classical Institute headmaster David H. Cotton.

Abdish Potato Harvest
As another step in the direction of improving the quality of its education, Ricker Classical Institute has moved to abolish the annual potato harvest recess effective in 1966. "Because the complexity of our student body is changing, and because we can no longer continue to handicap our college-bound students by depriving them of several weeks of instruction at the most strategic part of the school year, the harvest recess will no longer appear on our calendar," Headmaster Cotton said today.

"However," he continued, "because a few farm residents are expected to be enrolled next year, special provision for makeup work will be made should these students be absent for a period of up to two weeks. It is expected that with school in session on a regular basis, inclement weather and special tutorial classes will allow these few to keep up with their classes and make up work," the headmaster concluded. Enrollment Increases

Compared with last year, the enrollment picture has brightened considerably at RCI with a 38 per cent increase in the number of students from Houlton, a 40 per cent increase in the number of towns served, and a 63 per cent increase in dormitory students over last spring.

The largest increase in enrollment has been seen in the post-graduate class. Three fifth-year students graduated at last spring's commencement, this fall 21 are enrolled in the post-graduate program, an 700 per cent increase.

Even though increases in enrollment have been evidenced in nearly all areas, RCI has maintained its small classes with a 1:13 teacher-student ratio and that enables each student to receive close supervision and individual attention.

Extensive Recruiting
Recruiting this year's students began last September according to G. Donald Adams, director of admissions and public relations, and didn't conclude until the opening days of school.

The best measure of RCI's growth potential, according to Mr. Adams, is the yearly rate of change in number of inquiries. For the last three years Institute inquiries have increased greatly starting with a scant 40 in 1963. This year there were 263 inquiries from 29 states as opposed to 207 from 22 states last year. Both last year and this 22 per cent of the inquiries were from Maine, however, inquiries from girls increased 6 per cent this year and those from post-graduates increased one per cent.

Several Steps Taken
Several steps have been taken to effect this increase in inquiries and enrollment including extensive advertising, the publication of increasing amounts of school literature, the implementation of an Alumni Referral Agent program using alumni field recruits, and a vigorous program of public relations, publicity, and community service.

Student Earnings For Harvest Recess Reach $169,000 For '65

Figures released by Hamilton S. Giberson, superintendent of School Administrative District 29, show that 1,727 district students worked in the potato fields during the annual harvest recess, and earned an estimated $169,174.54. This figure represents an increase of nearly $11,500 over the earnings of SAD 29 pupils of a year ago.

73% of Students Worked
Mr. Giberson's figures show that the number of students working on the harvest represented 73 per cent of the total student body, including kindergarten. In some instances, such as in the Third, Fourth and Fifth grades at Monticello, every single child was working during the potato harvest.

A breakdown of the figures shows that 71 per cent of the children attending school in Houlton worked in the harvest, 90 per cent of the students at Littleton worked, and 85 per cent of the students at Monticello worked.

It should be explained that students from Monticello and Littleton from Grades 7 through 12 attend schools in Houlton as part of the junior-senior high program.

Average Earnings of $105
The average earnings for students attending schools in Houlton were $105 per student. In Littleton, where children of only the first six grades attend school, earnings were about $47 per pupil. The figure for Monticello again with only Grades 1 through 6, was about $56 per student.

The harvest season this year was extended from the originally scheduled three weeks to four weeks, because of the inclement weather. During the entire four-week period, picking was seldom done under ideal weather conditions.

Much Spent Locally
SAD officials made no attempt to determine what happened to the nearly $170,000 earned since mid-September by school children. While some of the money undoubtedly went into savings accounts to help defray future college expenses, much of the earnings by students and adults alike was spent with local merchants.

Traditionally students have waited until they receive their harvest money before purchasing back-to-school clothing, their winter clothing and other items.

Leases With Brokerage Firms Ok'd

Leases to three customs brokerage firms were signed Monday night by the Town Council, with each being given land near the Port of Entry at the Maine-Canadian border on U.S. Route 2.

The lease agreements were with Pacific Customs, A.N. Derringer, Inc., and Fenderson Realty, Inc.

All For One Year
All leases are for one year, and carry the stipulation that each of the three firms must begin building on the property within the year. The leases will then be subject to renewal. The land is part of the airport property.

Fenderson has been leased the largest and most attractive plot of land, and its original lease is for $400 a year. After the first year Fenderson will sign a 25-year lease, with option for renewal.

Fenderson has said it will build an office, warehouse and truck stop on its property. To Erect Only An Office
Pacific Customs has expressed a desire to erect an office, and will sign a 10-year lease with option for renewal at the end of the first year.

A.N. Derringer also plans to erect an office, but only wants a seven-year lease, with option, after the first year. These two firms, with smaller lots, are paying only $100 a year under terms of their leases.

The one-year preliminary leases were agreed to in order to permit the firms to find out exactly what access will be available to the properties once the Interstate is completed. With proper access, they will start their building programs within the year.

Town Office Open This Saturday Until 5 P. M.

The Town Office will be open until 5 p.m. this Saturday only, for the purpose of receiving taxes. Saturday is the deadline for Houlton taxpayers to receive a five per cent discount on their real and personal tax bills.

Town Manager Walter Benson said that the discount period ends Saturday, and then tax bills are payable at face value until January 1, after which interest will be charged against unpaid taxes.

Town Seeks Price On Theatre Lot

The Town Council, still anxious to increase off-street parking facilities, has instructed Town Manager Walter Benson to contact the J.J. Newberry Co., and determine at what price they would be willing to sell their property on Market Square, next to the Temple Theatre.

Now Used For Parking
The Newberry lot has been used for public parking for the past several years, although there have been numerous rumors that the company would erect a new building on the lot.

It is expected that the price for the lot may well be in excess of $100,000.

Council also indicated that it was thinking of a major bond issue to provide what it believes to be adequate off-street parking.

Several Lots Included
The bond issue, it was said, would probably include the Newberry lot, the Willis Hotel lot and perhaps lots adjacent to the hotel lot, The Plummer lot on Main street, just above the Elks Building, and the lot on which St. Mary's School now stands. Other lots, if available, might also be included. Council indicated that it is considering other plans that will make the downtown section of Houlton more attractive as a shopping center.

Goal Is Christmas

Millinocket completed by Christmas is the goal, for the latest type 12 channel, transistorized, aluminum cable system. Initially it will carry five channels out of Bangor and Saint John with other programming to be added as it becomes available. The antenna will be located on the Brownville road and placed in such a manner that it can be connected by microwave to Bear Mountain (Houlton TV's Ch. 2 pickup point) thus the area can be eventually connected by microwave.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hannigan and son Michael are moving to Millinocket, where he will be in charge of the Bee Line, Millinocket operation. Mr. Hannigan was graduated from Houlton High School and served in the Army in both Korea and Berlin. He is married to Linda Cassidy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cassidy of Amity. For the past six months he has worked with the Houlton Water Company and with his father in the operation of Houlton TV, gaining CATV operating experience before moving to Millinocket.

Set 'Em Back

If you want to get to the church on time Sunday morning, be sure and set timepieces back one hour before retiring Saturday night because this is the time when you get back that hour you lost last spring. While no serious harm can come from getting to the church an hour earlier than the services begin, most churchgoers may prefer to spend their time at home.

Aged Seen As Favoring Medicare

Enrollment of the County's older people in the new Medicare program indicates that an overwhelming majority of those on the social security rolls are choosing to participate in the voluntary medical insurance portion of the program, Robert J. DePorter, Social Security district manager in Presque Isle announced.

Most Take Insurance

The Social Security Administration completed its Aroostook mailing of information and medical insurance enrollment cards to 9,000 social security beneficiaries 65 or older, Mr. DePorter reported. Throughout the county, more than 85 per cent of the people who have already returned the cards have chosen to take medical insurance coverage.

Nearly 12,000 people over 65 in Aroostook are eligible for Medicare coverage, Mr. DePorter said, but they must file an application if they have not already done so.

The Medicare program, set up under the 1965 social security amendments, provides two different kinds of health insurance benefits for practically all Americans 65 or older. The basic hospital insurance plan will pay much of the cost of hospital and hospital-related expenses.

Voluntary Plan

A supplementary medical insurance is available on a voluntary basis at a cost of $3 a month. This plan helps to pay doctors' fees and certain other medical expenses. The two health insurance programs do not begin until July 1966, and no monthly premiums for medical insurance are due before then.

Social Security beneficiaries can sign up for medical insurance coverage just by checking "Yes" on the enrollment card, signing their name, and returning the card in the prepaid, addressed envelope which comes with it. The $3 monthly premium will be deducted from their benefit checks when the program starts in July.

Somerville-Roach Nuptials Are Performed At St. Mary's

MRS ROBERT DEERING SOMERVILLE
(Miss Mary Elizabeth Roach)

St. Mary's Catholic Church was the scene of a lovely wedding Saturday at 10 a. m. when Miss Mary Elizabeth Roach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Asa H. Roach, became the bride of Robert Deering Somerville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cedric Somerville. Baskets of white gladioli and carnations with autumn shades of red, gold and green decorated the altar for the occasion and the Rev. Michael McGarrigle officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Leo Downie played the traditional wedding music including "Ave Maria," "Agnes Dei," and "Oh Lord Most Holy."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a bouffant sheath floor length gown of peau fashioned with a fitted bodice, scoop neckline, and long pointed sleeves. The front panel sheath skirt fell into a bouffant chapel train from the front sides. The bodice and front of the skirt were appliqued with re-embroidered Alencon lace. Her elbow length bouffant three tiered veil of bridal illusion fell from a small princess crown of pearls.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white sweetheart roses, miniature white carnations, stephanotis ivy with floor length streamers featuring red, gold and green roses.

Her matron of honor, Mrs. Walter Davis Jr. wore a fitted day with a surprise party at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Lycette. Gifts and a sum of money was presented to the guest of honor during the social afternoon and evening and she received a telephone call from her grandson, Richard Lycette, from Jacksonville, Fla. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Burchard Reed, Roger Lycette, Miss Sally Dwyer, Mr. and Mrs. George Lycette, Mr. and Mrs. David Lycette and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Lycette and Floyd Lycette.

empire floor length gown with a red velvet bodice and antique rose satin skirt. A large matching double bow with face veil was her headpiece.

The bridesmaids were Miss Barbara McGillicuddy of Madison, Conn., and Mrs. Bart Harvey of Orono with Miss Eileen Roach, sister of the bride, as junior bridesmaid. They wore floor length gowns identical to the matron of honor in shades of autumn gold and green in velvet and satin. All attendants carried bouquets matching the autumn colors of their gowns.

Robert Phillips of Hartford, Conn., was the best man and the ushers were Dennis Roach, brother of the bride, and James Peabody, both of Houlton, and Richard Somerville, cousin of the bridegroom, of Easley, S.C.

Mrs. Roach chose for her daughter's wedding a pink brocade dress with rose accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses and pink carnations. Mrs. Somerville wore a cranberry knit ensemble with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses and carnations.

A reception was held at St. Anthony's Hall following the ceremony. After the traditional first slice of wedding cake was cut by the newly married couple it was cut and served by Miss Mary Jane Pressley of Greenville. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Gilman Pelletier of Caribou and Mrs. Raymond Curran of Bangor.

Miss Joanne Field and Miss Cathy Hamm, both of Bangor, presided at the punch bowl and the guest book was circulated by Mrs. Budson Anderson. Mrs. Michael Sandstrom of Stockholm was in charge of the gift table.

The bride is a graduate of Houlton High School and the Mercy Hospital School of Nursing in Portland. She has been employed by the Eastern Maine General Hospital in Bangor and the Aroostook General Hospital in Houlton.

The bridegroom was graduated from Ricker Classical Institute and the Maine Maritime Academy in Castine. He is serving as an engineer with the Texaco Oil Company, Marine Division.

Following a wedding trip to the Virgin Islands they will reside in Texas.

Shire Harriers Running Today In State Meet At University

Houlton High's cross country gave its best performance of the season Friday afternoon at Fort Fairfield and managed to earn itself a place in the State meet to be run today at the University of Maine in Orono.

Tie For Second Place

The team finished in a flat-footed tie with Fort Kent for second place in the divisional qualifying meet. Presque Isle romped to an easy first place win, but the tie for second was good enough to put both the Shires and Fort Kent in the meet today.

Joe Grant, who will be defending his State championship this afternoon, continued his domination of Maine competition. He raced home last Friday with a comfortable lead. Grant, in the two years he has been running for Houlton, has never been beaten by a Maine runner. His time Friday was 11 minutes, 24 1/2 seconds.

Skehan Runs Fifth

Kevin Skehan placed fifth at the Fort, and only he and Grant were able to break into the powerful team from Presque Isle. The Wildcats placed six of their runners in the top eight, and won the meet with a low score of 22 points.

Houlton and Fort Kent were tied with 64 each, while Caribou trailed the field with 87 points.

Running behind Grant and Skehan for Houlton were Steve Hanson, who placed 16th, Bob Hammond who was 20th, and Joe Paul in 22nd place.

These will be the five that Coach Dick Lawler is counting on in the State Class L meet today.

The order of finish:

1 - Grant, Houlton

- 2 - Humphrey, Presque Isle
- 3 - Farley, Presque Isle
- 4 - Glidden, Presque Isle
- 5 - Skehan, Houlton
- 6 - Mosher, Presque Isle
- 7 - Libby, Presque Isle
- 8 - Allen, Presque Isle
- 9 - Guerette, Caribou
- 10 - Desjardins, Fort Kent
- 11 - Hanson, Houlton
- 12 - Hammond, Houlton
- 13 - Paul, Houlton

Schenck And Ashland Are Top Qualifiers In Harrier Meets

Cross country teams from Schenck High of East Millinocket, Calais and Madawaska in Class M, and from Ashland and Lee Academy in Class S qualified for State meet competition as a result of regional meets conducted at Houlton Thursday.

Schenck, with all five of its finishers placing in the top 10, easily captured honors in the M division. Their total was 28 points. Calais placed second with 62 points, just ahead of the 63 points for Madawaska. Low score wins in cross country.

Four in M Meet

Rounding out the Class M field were Fort Fairfield and Limestone. Fort had 73 points and Limestone 138. Fort did manage to qualify one of its runners, as the top 10 individuals as well as the top three teams qualified for the State meet.

Ashland and Lee had little difficulty in winning their qualifying spots in the Class S competition. Ashland scored a low of 33 points for first place, and Lee had 48 points. Third place went to Mattawamkeag with 78. Washburn was fourth with 70 and Howland trailed with 130.

Both meets were run over Houlton's 2.5 mile course.

Three Individuals Qualify

While only one individual runner from a non-qualifying team earned the right to enter the State Class M meet, three runners from non-qualifying teams will enter the Class S competition.

Lindy Wotton of Mattawamkeag finished first in the S trials, and his time of 12 minutes, 35 seconds was the best of the day. It was seven seconds ahead of Donald Page of Schenck, who won in the M division.

Washburn high placed two individuals in the State S meet. Errol James placed fourth in the trials, and David Fuller was 10th.

In the S division the two top teams, and again the 10 top individuals qualified for the State meet.

M Results

The results of the Class M regional meet was as follows:

- 1 - Don Page (S) 12:42
- 2 - Charles Frost (C) 12:52
- 3 - Dan Nicholson (S) 12:58
- 4 - M Lizotte (M) 13:01
- 5 - Ed Collins (M) 13:05
- 6 - Steve Stratton (S) 13:06
- 7 - Pete Devine (FF) 13:12

$24 Million Being Spent By Hunters

Maine Fish and Game Commissioner Ronald T. Speers has announced completion of a study by his department which shows that hunting was a $24 million business in Maine in 1964. And this figure doesn't include money spent for hunting licenses.

The study, a postal questionnaire survey of a sample of 1964 hunting license holders, was conducted by Game Biologist John D. Gill of Milford.

Both resident and non-resident hunters told of their expenditures in Maine in 1964 for hunting - associated needs. The survey indicated that 139,800 Maine residents hunted in 1964 and spent an average of $129, for a total of $18,078,000. An estimated 32,200 non-resident hunters spent an average of $190 and a total of $6,124,000.

Mr. Speers pointed out that money spent in Maine by non-resident hunters represents six million "new" dollars in the economy of the State.

Among resident hunters, the top expense item was travel, which accounted for 21 per cent of their total spending. The number one category of expense for non-residents was subsistence, which included lodging and food.

Most Items Included
Nearly all items of expense, from guide services to dog food, were included in the questionnaire. Principal expenses not listed and not figured in the calculations were license fees, spending by unlicensed hunters, and deer registration fees. These figures were roughly estimated to total well over one million dollars.

Also shown by the survey was the distribution of hunting effort, among the major game types. Practically all resident hunters sought big game, deer mostly, about one-half hunted small game, and 11 per cent tried for waterfowl.

As among residents, nearly all non-residents hunted for big game, but fewer tried the other types of hunting.

Harvest Decision Must Include Farmer

This year's annual potato harvest recess, which was extended from three to an agonizingly long four weeks may have served a very positive purpose. It seems that a great many parents and teachers, who have been tolerating the harvest recess as a necessary evil for the past 15 years, are now questioning whether or not the recess is indeed necessary.

There is a growing sentiment here in Houlton, and perhaps in other areas of the County, that our educational system can no longer stand the interruptions that are caused by the harvest recesses. Already requests have been sent to the State Commissioner of Education asking for his intervention.

This week officials of Ricker Classical Institute announced that that school would no longer close its doors in the fall so that its students can assist with the harvest. Public school officials would like to make the same decision, but this is not an easy decision to make.

A directive by the State Commissioner could, we suppose, bring an end to the harvest recess. It would result in a continuous school year, without the costly interruption. But we wonder, would this result, whether it comes as a State directive or from a decision of local school officials, be a solution to the problem.

And the harvest recess is a problem, both for educators, parents and, not to be forgotten, the farmers.

We would most urgently hope that any decision that may be forthcoming will take into consideration the farmer, as well as the student, the teacher and the parent. Forbidding schools to close for the harvest may be no more of a solution than forbidding farmers to plant potatoes.

Parents and teachers quite understandably are greatly disturbed by the harvest recess and the damage it does to the educational process. From a purely educational point of view, it would not be far from correct to term the present situation as intolerable.

Yet, we believe, the farmer deserves just consideration. He must have a means of harvesting his crop, and any solution to the school problem must also provide a solution to harvesting problem if the results are to be just.

A hasty decision that does not give fair consideration to the farmer would be unfortunate. It would be equally unfortunate to continue to believe that just because we have had school recess for harvesting for 15 years that we must continue to do so indefinitely.

Long Harvest Recess Essential

Aroostook Republican, Caribou

The vagaries of the weather during this year's harvest created many unwanted problems for potato growers, and the toll taken of crops by rain and frost may not be known for weeks, or even months.

The labor problem during the harvest was, in some cases, an acute one. To start with there were fewer foreign pickers than in past years. And of the 3,800 or so Canadians who did cross the border to work in the fields, many did not stay for the duration of the season.

Some of them, as always, did not intend to stay; but many of them could not afford to remain in Maine on a shaky work schedule. Weather made harvesting possible one day and impossible the next, and if a job, permanent or temporary, is not worthwhile, the worker is not likely to stay with it very long.

So, as the days and weeks went by, the foreign labor force dwindled. So did the domestic force as numbers of county people and their children lost interest; with school out, and returns in many instances meager, more than a few families took advantage of the fall "vacation" to travel a bit or visit places other than cold and muddy potato fields.

The bulk of the domestic workers, of course, stayed with the farmers, as they must do each year until the "crops are in."

And the problems that this course creates for county school committees is something else again.

When it is raining or snowing, or the early morning temperature reads 20 degrees, potato growers struggling with the nightmare of great financial losses cannot be expected to sympathize with school authorities and release their young pickers to the classrooms without a strong and usually winning argument.

At the same time, educationists who also have duties to perform and time schedules to meet within the school year, cannot keep their doors closed until every single farmer has harvested his crop.

So each year there are debates and arguments about how long the harvest recess should be and whether, at the end of the recess schedule, it should be extended.

This year, no school recess in this area, no matter how long, proved to be sufficient, and theories about too many growers "dragging their heels" were not salable. The weatherman gave the majority of farmers the upper hand in the almost yearly hassle.

All of them, however, would have been happy to have been caught in a reverse situation.

carry-over from ancient days when all oaks were evergreens, shedding their leaves a few at a time. After the last Glacial Age, the oaks travelled northward and became an important deciduous tree of the temperate climate.

Go to an oak grove on a pleasant day in November when a pulsing wind is blowing. Stand for a moment among the trees and you will hear a haunting, minor-key melody—the music of the oaks when their leaves are dried and leathery.

This is the alpenglow of foliage time—the after beauty when the maples and ash, birches and elms have dropped their leaves. The oaks' leaves are not the rich colors of a few weeks ago; but the muted shades of wine and purple, maroon and brown, yellow and amber, glow with beauty in the slanting rays of the eleventh month sun.

This is a time of color and music along the oaks. For a few weeks the soft colors show on the hillsides and the pastel hues remind one of an antique Oriental rug.

The oaks develop their color slowly and they hold it long. A hillside of oaks on a November day can be an experience of beauty. And with the soft colors that match the mood of maturing year, he who will can listen and hear music that is part of Earth's never-ceasing symphony.

Newest Blacklist Includes General Ike

The National headquarters of the Democratic Party is hard put to explain its role in promoting a smear against some of the country's most honored citizens.

At issue is a three-volume blacklist titled "Extremists of All Shades Who Threaten American Democracy" and which was compiled by an organization called Group Research, Inc.

Ike's Name On Blacklist

On this blacklist we find such names as former President Eisenhower, the late President Herbert Hoover, Cardinal Cushing, FBI Director John Edgar Hoover and many others.

Republican Senator Thurston Morton of Kentucky claims Democratic National Chairman John Bailey contributed $10,000 of his party's funds to Group Research. A few weeks ago, he said, Bailey was sending out letters urging support for the organization conducting the smear and recommending that the blacklist be made available in schools, churches and other places.

Today, however, you can't beg, borrow or steal a copy of the blacklist from Mr. Bailey or Group Research. This is strange in view of the fact both were anxious to give it wide distribution a few weeks ago.

This list of dangerous "extremists" who are threatening our country carries the name of Gen. Eisenhower along with that of the hate-mongering Gerald L. K. Smith and it draws no distinction between Bishop Fulton Sheen and the American Nazi leader, George Lincoln Rockwell.

Surprisingly, the list carries the names of two prominent liberal Senators, Paul Douglas of Illinois and Tom Dodd of Connecticut. But that isn't all. It also contains the name of Mr. Democrat himself—James A. Farley.

When Senator Morton first aired his charges in a recent speech in Cleveland they were vigorously denied by Bailey and Wesley McCune, his associate in the venture. They said they were attempting to hurt no one, hooded Ku Klux Klansmen, shouting Nazis and all the others.

Morton explained: "I studied it (the list) and the more I studied it the more amazed I became. Here was a list which not only found something dangerous, in its implications, about a great number of our top citizens, but also saw a peril to our Republic in such organizations as the American Farm Bureau Federation and the Freedoms Foundation of Valley Forge, Pa."

By the implications carried in Chairman Bailey's list, even the persons who have received awards from the Freedoms Foundation are tainted. That, apparently, would include high schools throughout the country, students who have been proud of their awards, as well as the prominent citizens who have been blacklisted because of their contact with this organization which is devoted to preservation of American traditions of freedom.

It Was Sin To Accept

Acceptance of such an award were the sins committed by Senators Douglas and Dodd and which earned them a place on the blacklist. And the same for dozens of other persons who were similarly cited.

Of equal significance are names which you would expect to find but which are glaringly absent. For example, Gus Hall, head of the Communist Party in the United States. Or persons who have promoted the cause of Fidel Castro in this country.

Yet we find such names as the Rev. Theodore R. Hesburgh, president of Notre Dame University, Evangelist Billy Graham, Norman Vincent Peale, Gen. Omar Bradley, Arthur Godfrey, Ozzie and Harriet Nelson and Jackie Robinson. Robinson, the first Negro to break into major league baseball, gets special mention in another part of the smear publication because he once testified before the House Un-American Activities Committee and got an award from Freedoms Foundation for doing so.

Magazine Is Listed

The Reader's Digest is on the list and so are the names of many highly respected reporters. For example, Victor Riesel, the reporter and columnist who was blinded a few years ago by an acid-throwing thug after he had exposed racketeers in some of New York's gangster-ridden labor unions. Riesel also writes frequently about attempted Communist infiltration of labor unions.

Group Research boasts that it watches over the activities of dangerous extremists of all shades. And this prompted Senator Morton to observe, "By its own record, it shows that it can't tell the difference between shouting, bawling Nazi and a respected man of the cloth. Neither, apparently, can it tell the difference between an honest citizen engaged in honest pursuits and the Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan or the head of the John Birch Society."

"Look through the pages of the two thousand names and you will find a very thin scattering of the Gerald L. K. Smiths, the George Lincoln Rockwells, the Robert Welch and so on. If you can find one in 10 among the names of the innocents you'll be doing well. Perhaps a one-in-20 count would be more accurate."

The Editor's Corner

Edwin H. Pert of Bath, who served as secretary of the State Senate during the last session of the Legislature, and a good friend for many years, has landed a job that sounds like a real pearl.

Ed is State Regional Director for SAFR, which, believe it or not, stands for Services to Armed Forces Rejectees. SAFR offers counseling and referral services to those young men who are rejected for service with the Armed Forces.

SAFR is being administered by Maine's Department of Health and Welfare, and as noble as its intent may be, it has all the earmarks of another governmental program that begins with the hiring of high-priced employees and continues indefinitely as an added burden to the taxpayer.

Each fall Hazen Hare goes downstate to pick up help for the potato harvest, and one of his regular seasonal helpers is somewhat of a weather prophet.

This fall Mr. Hare asked his employee what the weather would be for the harvest season. He was told that if he could get his potatoes out of the ground by October 3 he would be all right. This prediction hit weather conditions just about on the nose.

Mr. Hare also asked his friend what the weather was going to be this coming winter. If you're interested, the prediction was for a bad winter, with a lot of snow.

No other sport takes over Houlton quite the way candlepin bowling does. All three private clubs and the two public lanes are doing capacity business every week night with league play, and will continue to do so right through to next spring.

Federal Odds And Ends

Washington, D.C.—Nuggets of information mined from government files, ranging from budgets to birds, and from coins to computers:

President Johnson's budget of last January predicted a decline of 235 in the number of federal employees at mid-year. Instead the total rose 27,192 to 2,527,684 civilians on the U.S. payroll.

There are only about 1,000 species of birds known to man but the bird collection in Washington's Smithsonian Museum of Natural History includes 500,000 specimens.

The Census Bureau has discovered that 29 out of every 100 Americans drink fluoridated water.

U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates that for every $1 worth of timber cut in a national forest, an additional $25 worth of business is generated in wages, transportation, manufacturing, wholesaling and retailing, by the time the timber is used for housing or other purposes.

The Vice President of the U.S. receives a salary of $43,000 a year, plus $10,000 for expenses—all of it taxable.

Nearly one-tenth of all jobs in the U.S. are in defense-related work. The total is 6.6 million workers, over half on the federal payroll as servicemen or civilians, and the rest employed by defense contractors or sub-contractors, or their suppliers.

In a single hour, the average hurricane releases energy equal to all the electric power generated in the U.S. during a year. In a single second, a hurricane expends 10 times as much energy as the Hiroshima atomic bomb.

Since switching to ball point pens over a decade ago, the Post Office has bought nine million of them, plus 26 million refills. The P.O. pays only 2 1/4 cents per refill.

There were 13,500 business failures last year, despite general prosperity.

Many Seek Patents

U.S. Patent Office receives almost 90,000 patent applications per year and has a backlog of 220,000 pending cases. Average time between filing an application and receiving a patent is more than three years.

Vandals broke 26,518 panes of glass in Washington schools last year. The bill for replacing broken windows was $118,320.

In an average year there are 550,000 fires in American homes, causing 6,300 deaths, 250,000 injuries and property damage of $329 million. Only one home fire in 10 is caused by children playing with matches. Faulty heating, careless smoking and electricity are more frequent causes.

Sunday Sermon

Our Grandfather in Heaven?

English lay theologian C.S. Lewis observed that what so many of us want is NOT a Father in Heaven, but a senile, benevolent grandfather in heaven, a nice old fellow who liked to see young people enjoy themselves and whose plan for the universe was simply that it might be said at the end of each day, "a good time was had by all." This is what Love means to many.

When Christianity says that God loves man, though, something different is intended. Just as a loving father among us can be at his most loving when he spans the back end of his child, or when he says "No," or when he says "This do, not that," so it is with God our heavenly Father. We are the objects of his active, endless love, not the recipients of indulgence and measured indifference.

The Creator we invoke is not senile benevolence, drowsily interested in good feeling; he is not coldly philanthropic like a rich magistrate; he is not professionally warm like the maitre d' at an expensive club. No, he is the consuming fire Himself, the Love that made the worlds. As Lewis said in his excellent book "The Problem of Pain," He is persistent, like the artist's love for his work, despotic like a man's love for his dog, provident and venerable like a human father's love for a child; he is jealous, inexorable and exacting like love between the sexes.

Why this should be, we do not know. It passes man's understanding why any creature, especially creatures who behave as we do, should have such a prodigious value in their Creator's eyes.

But He does have this love for us. We are special to him. So we might all try to thank him, however inadequate our very best might be. We love, but often not wisely or well; but He loves, perfectly. "All praise and thanks to thee ascend for evermore, blest One in Three."

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I for one read the letter in your paper last week against closing schools for the potato harvest.

I'm for education also, but how about the other side? There are a good many children who wouldn't be able to finish high school if it wasn't for potato picking. I know that my son, for one, would have to drop out.

A good many children work on harvesters and there are plenty of chances for picking even with all the harvesters.

Some of us can't afford to buy all the things our children need for school. I'm sure I don't want my son looking like a bum. Even the younger children need this extra money.

I'll admit a lot of children don't have to work. Morepower to them, but a little work never hurt any of them. If they have enough ambition they can make up what they lose.

Maybe some of the better off people can come up with a solution for the rest of us. I say the farmers still need us, and we sure need the farmers.

Blaine Airman Serves Aboard USS Forrestal

Airman Apprentice Afton A. Cronkrite Jr., USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Afton A. Cronkrite Sr. of Blaine, a crewmember of the attack aircraft carrier USS Forrestal, helped celebrate his ship's 10th anniversary October 1 while anchored in Genoa, Italy. On her seventh deployment with the U. S. Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean, the Forrestal has been operating with another aircraft carrier to form the nucleus of the Sixth Fleet's fast carrier striking force. Since arriving in the Mediterranean in August, she has been participating in fleet and North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) exercises, as well as conducting day and night-fight operations with her powerful wing of jet attack and fighter aircraft. Named after a former Secretary of the Navy, the Forrestal is scheduled to visit ports in Italy, Spain and Greece and is expected to return to her homeport of Norfolk, Va. in late March.

When the Swedish government learned that its sailors weighed from three to five pounds more than its soldiers, it immediately cut calories on shipboard and stepped up drills.

Heart Attacks More Deadly Than Gunshots

"Heart attack deaths among hunters occur three times as frequently as accidental deaths from gunshots" states Dr. Milan A. Chapin of Auburn, president of the Maine Heart Association. "Careless hunting practices are the surest way of becoming a number on the casualty list, warns Dr. Chapin, but you can also join the same list by taxing your heart with unaccustomed exercise. "Many desk workers and other persons who are not conditioned for unusual physical exertion risk heart attacks when they try to haul deer out of the woods, carry heavy packs or do too much hiking," he continued. The sportsman should observe the rules of moderation to help avoid this catastrophe. These rules should be observed especially by the middle aged or older male who, on the average is slightly overweight, and has had little strenuous exercise in the past year, Dr. Chapin continued. "Unusual exercise unquestionably puts enormous demands on the heart muscle which may not have been used in this manner for years and, combined with a tendency for the disease, may be enough to trigger a heart attack," he said. "As a precaution the hunter should pace himself to avoid fatigue and breathlessness and take frequent rest intervals. A heart check-up with the family doctor before the hunting trip is a wise precaution."

MUTUAL SAVINGS BANKS

Serving Mutual savings bank depositors are boards of trustees, managers, or directors as they are variously called in the different states. These boards establish policies, elect officers, supervise investments, and determine interest rates paid to depositors. State laws and the traditions of mutual savings banks prohibit trustees from profiting personally from any of the bank's investments, earnings of operations.

To assure maximum benefits to depositors, mutual savings banks, as state-chartered institutions, are supervised by state agencies. Their operations and investments are carefully and periodically reviewed.

Deposit insurance also protects savers. Most savings banks are members of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, an agency of the United States Government.

In addition, every mutual savings bank has general reserves funds which have been accumulated over the years out of the bank's earnings.
